JEWEL THEFT AT WESTPORT; RECOVER LOOT

FALL RIVER, Aug. 8.—A $5,000 jewel and money robbery at the summer home of Mrs. Milton B. Lord of Westport, N. J., at Westport Harbor, an exclusive colony fifteen miles southeast of this city, has been cleared up by the confession of one of the servants. The latter broke down under a "third degree" at the hands of Detective Richard A. Kelly of this city, admitted the robbery and dug up the jewels and money, which had been buried on the estate.

The robbery and recovery were kept as quiet as possible by Mrs. Lord and other wealthy Summer residents of Westport Harbor, because they feared that their colony would be associated with the Narragansett Pier jewel robbery and its professional bandits be attracted there.

Westport Harbor is one of the most retired and difficult to reach of any of the Summer communities of the rich in this state. Neither trolley nor railroad go there and the only comfortable way to get there is by auto or with a good rowing boat.

The place is beautifully situated on Long Island Sound, where the Westport River empties into that body of water.

Several New York families have Summer places there, as well as some of the rich manufacturers, bankers and other leading business men of this section.

The theft of Mrs. Lord's jewels and money took place yesterday, but the facts did not become known here until today.

Couple in Court on Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKinnon, their sixth wedding anniversary today in Madison Square, Jones St. Long-Sleeved, wearing, smiling.

Mrs. McKinnon had changed her mind about the wedding, but she was very anxious to see her husband on his wedding day.

Mrs. McKinnon said Judge Webster that in six years McKinnon had bought her only one suit. McKinnon, an elderly woman, said he is willing to do what he can toward supporting his wife and their five-year-old boy. He was ordered to pay her $4 a week.

Chicago's Women Police Make Arrest

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Ten, we were a little nervous just before we made our first arrest," admitted Policewomen Margaret Wilson and Margaret Butler after they had sent Nellie Cameron to the police station for disorderly conduct, but as we played her under arrest, we regained our composure.

The two policewomen had been watching Mrs. Cameron for some time. Then suddenly, Officer Margaret Wilson stepped up to her, placed her hand on her shoulder, and said in a loud tone: "Madam, you are under arrest. You are a public nuisance."

A crowd which assembled cheered for the "women cops and their first pick."

Use Violet Ray to Set Off Explosion

HATFIELD, Penn., Aug. 8.—The violet ray, not an agency unit in medicine, may take their place in war. Signor Vio, an Italian scientist, today began experimenting with the object of perfecting a device by which explosives may be set off with infra-red rays.

Value F. D. Grant Estate at $100,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—An appraisal of the estate left by the late Major-General Frederick Dent Grant, shows the entire personal estate to be valued at about $100,000.

RULE AGAINST O'RILEY FIGHT ON BARN

Judge Dodge of the United States District Court today denied the motion of Jeremiah P. O'Riley, the Charleston contractor, to dismiss the bill for suit of the United States government, which desires to prevent the use of the property adjoining the Charleston Navy Yard for stable purposes. A public hearing will be given in the matter next Tuesday at 10 a. m. upon the government's motion for a restraining order against O'Riley concerning the maintenance of the stable.

Irish to Honor John O'Callaghan

Memorial to Home Rule Advocate Will Be Held September 28.

A memorial service to John O'Callaghan, champion of Home Rule, and late national secretary of the United Irish League, will be held at 10 a. m. on September 28. More than half of the $100,000 fund for his children has been raised.

The Eastern Central branch of the league has adopted this resolution:

"Resolved, That the Boston branch of the United Irish League express its sense of profound sorrow for the death of John O'Callaghan, late national secretary of the United Irish League of America. Mr. O'Callaghan's place as a leader will be filled by this organization, of which he was the father, promoter and chief at all times and in all enterprises. He was honest, straightforward and true. He was a noble and worthy son of the old land, to which his allegiance never wavered."

"Resolved, That the Central branch of the United Irish League of Boston, please, upon receipt of the news of the loss which it has sustained, send a telegram to the family of Mr. O'Callaghan, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of Mr. O'Callaghan."

Held as Perjuror in the Grant Taxi Case

Thomas H. Smith of Peabody, Mass., was arrested today by United States Deputy Marshal Cameron on a charge of perjury in the case of Miss Nellie Grant (church), who under went an operation in order, it is alleged to get $50,000 damages against a New York Taxi Company for alleged personal injuries. Smith was arrested for perjury in connection with her suit against the Taxi Company. Smith stated that he owned real estate in East Bridgewater, Mass., valued at $13,500 when giving bond for Miss Grant. This the government alleges is untrue.

Many in Field for Somerville Mayor

Former Representative Zelindus C. Clegg was today put forward for the Republican nomination as Mayor of Somerville by Representative W. H. Dolben of that city. Immediately following this announcement, friends of State Treasurer Simon E. Stevens started a boom to land him the nomination. Mayor Charles A. Burns, now serving his third term, and former Representative Sidney H. Kerns, are also in the field.

$50,000 Loss in Fire at Peabody

Power Plant Burns; City Will Be in Darkness Tonight.

PEABODY, Aug. 8.—The municipal electric power and light plant here was destroyed by fire early today.

The loss was $50,000. The town will be in darkness tonight, for there is no power for electric lights, and it will be three weeks before arrangements can be made to get power from Salem. Many of the leather and motorcar factories here are run by electricity, and these will be forced to shut down.

The fire started in the engine room. It is believed, from a report on the lookout floor. It spread so swiftly that the three men on duty were helpless to check it.

They tried to ring an alarm from Box 14, but the fire in the plant had thrown the electric alarm system out of order, and the department did not respond. Finally someone realized the trouble and telephoned to headquarters. When the apparatus arrived the flames had gained such a start it was hopeless to try to check them.

The destruction principally of dynamo, generators, switchboard and similar apparatus, which will probably be replaced by the town department, is the loss.

SOUTH GRAFTON, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Lucy C. Monroe of Main street, eighty years old, walked four miles to the Farm district, picked eight quarts of blueberries and walked home.

HOLD BROKER WATCHMAKER IN $10,000 DAIL

Joseph Watchmaker, a note broker living at No. 21 Wilson Square, Boston, was today held in $10,000 bail for a hearing Aug. 20, charged with the larceny of $500 from the Broadway National Bank of Chicago.

Watchmaker, bank attorney device, engineered a "plastic window" which cost Boston banks $100,000 or over. The attorneys asked a high bail.

Criminal action is threatened against Watchmaker, and an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against him a few days ago.

David Manville, who Watchmaker was assigned today, said that his client has property valued at $100,000, and an equity of $200,000.

Willard Howland, David Solomon and Gray Hall, representing banking interests, urged that a high bail be fixed. Howland, who is president of the Broadway National Bank, said:

"This man has secured more than $100,000 through criminal means. In a classic case of audacity, he is securing these notes, and has failed as to his personal and real property. This action, charging larceny, is brought in connection with a $500 note, which Watchmaker secured with a list of properties. These properties were used to carry such mortgages that Watchmaker's equity did not amount to five cents on the dollar."

He then said:

"Several Boston banks asked Watchmaker to take up his notes July 28. He has since withdrawn $25,000 from Boston banks. In view of the serious charge against him he can no longer be trusted. The country with this money. The directors of our bank said, I will not have my money taken up by the note he failed to meet them. To save the bank from loss and have voted officials to bring about the removal of the man from the bank, so that the facts to the district attorney."

Dorchester Girls Rescue Two Boys

Run Motor Boat for First Time, but Save Lives.

Two Dorchester girls have proved that George Fitch's standard motor boat, which made his readers think a motor boat was a combination of a kitten and a whirling dervish and a kitten. But these two girls, Rose Toland, sixteen, of No. 3 Robinson street, and Marion Bell, sixteen, daughter of Dr. J. H. Bell, 100 North Street, saved two boys.

They are summering at Long Lake, Naples, Me. On the shore they saw a canoe with two boys in it overturn. The only craft near was a motor boat, but they jumped to the rescue for a moment and quickly the engine started. They then rescued the boys and landed them without a hitch.

Incorporate Self as $2,000,000 Trust

Carpenter Says He May Be Warning His Stock, However.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—Benjamin F. Roberts, a carpenter of No. 924 Commonwealth street, near to Harrisburg yesterday began incorporating himself as $2,000,000 as a huge trust.

Roberts said tonight he was watering stock and might, as he might, be able to get dividends upon the $2,000,000 stock which he purposes to sell to other interested parties, but he contended he had as much right to water his personal stock as any other corporation.

He said that shareholders against his life insurance will take out life insurance. He can get it, equal to his capital.

Professor Tuttle's Wife Works in Mill

MIDDLETON, Ct., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Charles A. Tuttle, wife of Professor Tuttle of Westport, is working for $4 a week in the Goodbye Rubber Company's plant here, making rubber shoes in order that she may study social conditions.

Professor Tuttle succeeded Professor Willard G. Fisher as head of the department of zoology at Wesleyan, where his father was deposed.

Gina Tuttle plans to write a book about her experiences among wage-slave girls. She came to work at seven, and will leave at seven, with an hour for dinner last week. Superintendent Thomas W. Maxwell told the employees of the factory for an outing at Davis Rock. Mrs. Tuttle went along.

Says Man Crowded Woman Boarding Car

Alfred H. Mann of Rutledge was arrested today by Judge Perkins to bring, under indictment, with him along down a woman past whom he crowded in at the Village. Mann said someone pushed him toward the woman, and that he didn't know she had fallen into the car. He arrested him. The judge continued the case till tomorrow. He said he felt he would not Mann not guilty.

Adopt Grandchild, Tangle $1,500,000

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 8.—The distribution of a $1,500,000 estate depends on a decision by the Court of Chancery whether the adopted son, William H. H. and his wife of their grandchild gave the grandchild legal status under the will as their daughter, and whether a daughter of the grandchild, now two years old, is their grandchild.

Scott's Home Is Divided on Auto

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The home of former Senator William H. Scott of West Virginia is divided against itself not only on the issue of automobiles, but on the issue of the Scott family. Scott found a place to buy gasoline at twenty-two cents a gallon instead of twenty-four. But Mrs. Scott, who is the owner of the car, bought a new $1,000 car. When he has turned over the car to the family of gasoline it will have paid for itself, he figures.

Rule Cotton Rates Are Unreasonable

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The present rates on any quantity of cotton goods transported from points on the Mississippi River to points on the Missouri River were part of a scheme, either from points of origin in the New England States or from points in the South, were Missouri Pacific and other railroads were held to be unreasonable by the Interstate Commerce Commission today. A rate of thirty cents a hundred pounds was prescribed.

Tight Skirts Make Idle Operatives

Mill Men Say Present Styles Are Cause of Lack of Work.

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 9.—That Ch factories manufacturing cloth are suffering from the present styles in women's wearing apparel, owing to the smaller sale of cloth, and that many operatives are being thrown out of work in consequence, is the opinion of many leading

New Bedford manufacturers.

In the past three years the circumference of women's skirts has been cut down on the average about two yards. The smaller sales of cloth have necessitated a curtailment in the payroll, and hundreds of idle operatives are waiting until the styles change before they will be put to work again.

Weare Mansion Is Burned by Firebug

AMESBURY, Mass., Aug. 8.—The brickface of Colonel Jacobus Weare, the first Governor of New Hampshire, was burned to the ground at Seabrook, N. H. The house was a colossal affair, two and one-half stories high, and was the oldest building in this section. The fire was undoubtedly the work of incendiaries, as the house was unoccupied.

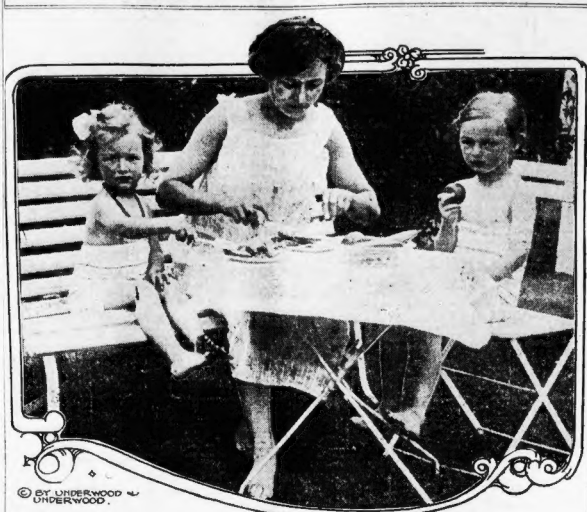

Churchills Lose Their Week's Wash

X-RAY GOWN FORMAL DRESS FOR SUN BATH COLONISTS

Mother and children in near-nature garb at Reposa Nature Cure Club, London. The members believe in sun baths.

"September Morn'" Wouldn't Cause a Ripple at London Reposa Club.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—A diaphanous gown of sheerest lawn is formal dress for the women of the Reposa Nature Cure and Country Club, which occupies a secluded retreat at St. Helen's Park in the town of Hastings.

No protest is made, no matter how thin the gowns, because the "Reposas" members are sun bathers and, when they are not basking in the rays alone on their lawn skirts, they are shielded from gaze only by the thinnest of gauze. The "September Morn'" which has attracted many and many communities, would be no shock to the "Reposas" people.

The club is made up of men and women who suffer from various ailments and who look to the life of the club for relief and to the operation of life to cure them.

START JOURNEY OF CARAVELS BOSTON BOUND

The famous reproductions of Columbus' three caravels, which are to be taken through the Panama Canal and to the Panama-Pacific Exposition by Harvard College youths by way of Boston, started on the first lap of their journey today from Chicago.

They were made for the World's Columbian Exposition and have been kept in Jackson Park lagoon ever since. An drew Kaul of this city, former assistant rowing coach at Harvard, started the movement to take the three caravels to San Francisco. Harvard men volunteered to defray the first expense of getting the caravels in seaworthy condition.

Mr. Kaul drew a $10,000 bond, insuring the return of the caravels in good condition. The three strange craft were taken from Jackson Park lagoon today in a dory dock at South Chicago. There they will be put in shape for their run through the lake and river ports to the Atlantic and thence down to Boston.

The interesting fleet is scheduled to arrive in Boston early this winter. They will be anchored in some safe haven for the winter and may be on exhibition to raise funds for the rest of the trip.

In the spring the caravels will be sailed down the Atlantic coast. They will touch at the principal Eastern seaboard ports for exhibition purposes and will also stop at San Salvador, the first land sighted by Columbus.

Laimbeer's Death Kept from Widow

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. William Laimbeer, who was seriously injured on Sunday night when her husband was killed with a St. Francis bell in an automobile accident near Long Beach, has not yet been informed that Mr. Laimbeer is dead. Her condition is such that it is thought best to prepare her gradually for the shock.

Says Panama Hates the United States

PARIS, Aug. 8.—That there is a growing feeling in the Republic of Panama against the United States, is the assertion of Maurice de Perigny, in the Temps, was says:

"I gathered from conversations that the majority of Panamanians have a feeling of antipathy against Americans which is more or less concealed according to their situation."

CUSTOMS SPIES IN PARIS WATCH HUB MODISTES

Boston modistes now in Paris purchasing their fall stock will be watched by Uncle Sam, it is developed today with the discovery of the fact that William H. Garrison, Assistant United States District Attorney at Boston, and Carl Chamberlain, United States Treasury Agent in charge of the New England division, are on a line bound for the French capital.

It is also declared they will investigate the customs of which Terence L. Sherrin, a former deputy collector of customs at Boston, it is alleged, was the leading spirit. He and others are under indictment in the famous sleeper trunk case.

The two Federal officials will visit the shops where some of the modistes now under indictment purchased goods worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, and which, it is charged, were smuggled in through this port. They will see the books of the Paris merchants with whom some of the defendants did business, for the purpose of obtaining facts at first hand, as it is understood, some of the invoices for goods could not be obtained by the officials in this city.

Pastor Condemns the Slit Skirt

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 8.—Speaking before the conference of the Seventh Day Adventists in session here, Rev. L. H. Adams, president, said that if he were judge of a court and a decree to the slit skirt and "X-ray dress" came in to condemn against a young man he would charge the girl herself with contributing to the delinquency of the man and let the latter go free.

Only Two Kinds Of Men Smoke Tobacco At Its Best.

The rich man, who keeps his tobacco in an expensive humidor, and the thinking man, who has discovered that plug tobacco yields him a smoke as fragrant—cool and bitless as if he had filled his pipe at the tobacco factory.

Tobacco must be fresh and moist to have the genuine tobacco flavor. The only way to preserve all this natural flavor is to press the tobacco with all its natural moisture into plug form and then keep it there by a natural leaf wrapper. That's the scientific way.

The easy way is to give smokers a tobacco that's ready to pour into a pipe. But any chopped-up tobacco will get dry, losing freshness and flavor every week.

For tobacco at its best, get MASTER WORKMAN PLUG. Then you'll have fresh tobacco for every pipe-load.

Try MASTER WORKMAN today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The hearing today of the Frawley investigating committee is expected to determine whether Governor Salter's impeachment will be sought or the committee will seek his removal through indictment and criminal prosecution.

It is probable the Stock Exchange will become a factor in the inquiry, and through it the facts of the governor's alleged dabbling in stocks may be brought out. The committee has been unable because of the refusal of witnesses to answer questions, to establish the identity of the person who had been called by Fuller & Gray, but has expressed the belief that it is the Governor.

"I am not in the power," he said, "demand the name of this anonymous customer, and a member of the board of governors has indicated that if the Free-Press will give up the name of the customer, the name of the customer will be obtained."

Governor Sumner continues silent on the charge made by the committee, but said:

"I intend to answer all those charges at once when the proper time comes."

Held on Enticement Charge.

John Horvitz of Southbridge was held in $800 for a hearing next Monday on the charge of enticing Jennie Rosenfeld away from her brother's home, No. 45 Barton street, West End, on the promise of marrying her, by Judge Parsonette in the Municipal Court today. Ilvortta has a wife and family in Russia.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 8.—Manager George Stallings declared this morning that if it were possible, under the rules to protest a game on an umpire's judgment.

ment, he would protest the first game of the series here yesterday, which Boston lost in the tenth inning by the score of 4 to 3.

Stallings and Sweeney both contended that Captain Bill was not out at third in the tenth inning, when Simon threw to Byrne to catch him off the sack. They say that Bill slid safely back, and his feet on the cushion when he was called out.

In the stands here, the impression prevailed that he was safe, though, of course, a loud cheer went up when he was called out. With a man on this

STERLING ALE

Pay the man "just as good" nickels for his "just as good" ales, and see what he says.

Real nickels buy Sterling from the blue and white tap.

ORDINARY ales do not suffer from substitution. Too often they thrive by it. It is the high-grade, high-cost ale that needs, for itself and its consumers, protection from the unfair competition of less costly brews.

The Sign and the Faucet are your safeguards, and ours.

Remember: It is Sterling that makes Boston the first ale city in America.

our profitable little chat with a description of the quaint and dainty step.

"I have been a dancer for some fifteen years. The man holds his partner's outstretched right hand in his left, with his right hand on her arm and shoulder, and points her forward, and holds her right arm poised with untutored wrist, and then gradually dips her, and holds her for a moment in a deep crouch. Don't you think that a dear little conclusion to our tangling?"

"Yes, but you are not a dancer, are you?"

"I am perfectly polite to dance that in any ballroom?"

"Perfectly polite, and very fetching and very good. I think don't you? And I hope we may all learn to do it with a fraction of the dainty grace and modesty shown by you."

It was scarcely half-past nine when the father, stern-looking father of the girl entered the parlor where the timid lover was courting her. The father had a "Young man," he said brusquely, "do you know what time it is?"

"Y--yes, sir," stammered the frightened lover, as he scrambled out into the hall: "I—I was just going to leave!"

After the bean had made a rapid exit toward his room to the girl and said in astonishment:

"What was the matter with that fellow? My watch has run down and I simply wanted to know the time."

Public executions in Europe prove very profitable to the owners of houses commanding the scene. Windows are reserved for the thousands of auditors watching for the first sign of the execution, and then at once sending word to the friends of the condemned man. If an ordinary criminal is executed the price is usually about $6 per seat, but should the offender have committed any crime of unusual notoriety, the price goes up as much as $20.

A Pittsburgh boy, William A. Davis, reached his thirteenth birthday on Friday, Jan. 30, 1915. He weighed 133 pounds, was 5 feet 10 inches tall, and had written thirteen letters in it, and was in the habit of writing one every day. The boy, who was born on December 15, embraced his birthday with enthusiasm, and on Saturday to insure that no harm should befall him, he wrote a letter to his mother.

Kettledown, in Yorkshire, possesses the most remarkable electric lighting installation in England. The lights are all worked by means of the River Wharfe provides it with water, and $3,000 a lighting plant has been erected. The lights are owned by the shareholders and directors of the company.

A black and white illustration of a person's legs and feet, wearing white socks and dark shoes, standing on a grid-like surface. The style is graphic and somewhat abstract, with heavy black lines and cross-hatching for shading. The person appears to be standing on a floor made of rectangular tiles or a similar grid pattern. The legs are bent at the knees, and the feet are positioned as if walking or standing on uneven ground. The overall composition is dynamic and expressive.

Back John Lind Up with a Force Ready for Business

President Huerta's flat declaration that he will not accept mediation or intervention of any kind and that the present struggle in Mexico must be "conducted implacably," forebodes to failure the mission of ex-Governor John Lind of Minnesota to that country as President Wilson's private commissioner.

When Huerta, however, bases his flat on the requirements of "the dignity of the nation and the prestige of the government," he prates of considerations he entirely forgets on the night of the murders of the last President and Vice-President of his country.

With more Americans seized and imprisoned in Mexico City and Chihuahua City and the rapidly accumulating accounts by refugees of the ill-treatment of Americans generally, even of women, it is plain that there can be nothing left of the policy of "mediation" than the merest ceremonial form and, probably, another slap in the face for our government.

And then?

There is only one possible way to prevent President Huerta showing the President's envoy politely to the door of Mexico, and that is by a demonstration of force, the only kind of argument the Mexican President and people apparently understand. With the alternative grimly manifest, there might be another change of tone as rapid as that which followed the "representations" of Brigadier-General Tasker, H. Bliss after the shooting of Dixon at Juarez.

But, presumably, the force of a mediation effort must run its course and the outrages on Americans and their properties must meanwhile be ignored. And, at the end of the ruin, what then? WHAT CAN THEN BE DONE PREPARATIONS FOR WHICH CANNOT WITH GREAT MORAL EFFECT BE BEGUN NOW?

In view of complications involved in the Mexican situation, Representative Britten's resolution for an emergency appropriation large enough to start the immediate construction of THREE NEW BATTLE-SHIPS should not be blocked. Dispatches from Washington to the effect that the Secretary of the Navy may have Admiral Dewey's advice and start four new dreadnaughts next Winter are at least hopeful. But it is not necessary, nor is it wise, to lose half a year. The policy of hesitation and delay has already landed the country into a position from which it can hardly extricate itself without a costly and, at the best, inglorious campaign. It has not paid to shirk and put off the unpleasant duty.

And the very plain duty now before our government is a duty to its colleagues in civilization as well as to itself.

The Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange Says a Few True Things to the Grand Trunk

The Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, which is one of the leading business organizations of New England, has sent Mr. Henry C. Long as its special representative to confer with the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway system, hoping thereby to secure the renewal of the Grand Trunk's plan to make Boston one of its great terminals. The letter which Mr. Long bears from John J. Martin, president of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, is exceedingly interesting. It states our railroad situation clearly and correctly.

The AMERICAN quotes a few pertinent paragraphs from this letter:

We assure you that we represent the sentiment of every business organization and also of every municipality in the State when we say to you that the business interests desire that your company should come to this city.

The Exchange does not look with favor on any compromise whatsoever with the great transportation monopoly which has gradually secured control of the railway situation in New England. Independent and competitive lines are necessary for the welfare of New England. At the present time there is no real competition with regard to transportation between New England and the great West and Northwest. The business interests of Boston are particularly appreciative of the act of your former president, Mr. Hay, when he successfully held out in behalf of Boston against a raise in the freight rates from the West. We desire a continuance of such strong and friendly relations between your company and the business interests of Boston.

The northern half of this continent needs for its commerce a Winter's outlet which can be established in Boston at much less cost than in any other port.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

THE WAR ON FLIES

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:
Dear Sir:—As a result of your editorial concerning the deadly nature of the common fly, I thought it proper to inform you of the remarkable warfare that has been waged upon them in Havertill during the last two months, especially by the school boys. The combined onslaught aggregated nearly 5,000,000 flies, and may readily be perceived that your thoughtful advice was productive of an early and thorough extermination of the pest. Thousands of flies have been seen in my store during the month of July. Thank you for your timely suggestion.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:
Dear Sir:—On several occasions, while at the concerts at Faneuil, I have noticed as a closing selection the song, "America," as played, during which many citizens and boys with bare heads. Will you please print this in your paper so that your many readers may learn that the National Anthem accepted by the United States Government is the "Star Spangled Banner."

THE DOG

Dear Sir:—In three days of civilization and progress the dog has outlived his usefulness. He is no longer needed to aid in the hunt or protect the home of his master, as of old. Therefore, he should be disposed with.

But unfortunately, that is not the case. Instead, children, women, fads, and even him and he is allowed to run the streets, oftentimes half-dressed and abused. In the latter condition he soon becomes rabid and a menace to all who use the streets.

In time the city authorities will make it their business to allow no dogs within city limits, but that day is as yet far off.

Engagement and Marriage

Marriage on Less Than $1,000 or $1,200
a Year in Our Larger Cities Is a Risk--- and Even Then Many Sacrifices Are Necessary to Do It

Interesting extracts from lectures by Orrin G. Cooke, read to the Rockefeller Bible school and recommended for publication by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

MARRIAGE is a most holy estate, and is to be entered into "reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God."

Just as marriage is a holy institution, so the physical facts connected with marriage are also holy. Too often we have looked upon many of these facts as things one must hesitate to discuss, that must be kept very close to one's self, as essentially unclean. I am glad that the time has come when so many men can come together and think about the physical basis of marriage.

Approach the Subject in a Perfectly Natural Way

Let us approach this holy subject in a perfectly natural way. I do not pretend to be an expert in the matter; I simply have thought about it rather seriously, and perhaps a little more broadly than some others have. Nor do I profess to have any specific medical knowledge, though I have tried to obtain from authoritative sources all statements of scientific facts. No doubt we all have a moral and religious aim in view. We want marriage to be a happy and a holy estate. I ask you, then, to be sympathetic in your attitude and to support me in the consideration of this subject.

1. The economic basis of marriage.

What does it cost?

Should a man have money in reserve?

Rents vary considerably. In the larger cities the choice of a place to begin housekeeping usually lies between an apartment or flat of four or five rooms or, in the less built-up portions, a floor of a two-family house. Lower rentals may be found in the suburbs, or in towns within commuting distance. Against this advantage the cost of train-fare must be figured. On the other hand, persons who are accustomed to living in the country find a great deal more comfort in living at some distance from the city in spite of the expense and trouble of commuting. In general, the amount of rent paid should be governed by the income. It is a dangerous thing to spend more than one-quarter of one's income for rent; but, as a matter of fact, many of us go beyond that and spend nearly a third. I dare say a majority of young married people of the middle class in New York are paying from 25 to 35 per cent. of their income for rent, which, as I have stated, is unwise. Many of us acquire money, and, when it comes our turn to borrow or run into debt. As to expenditure for food, that is much less in a household than in a boarding house. It is certainly not economical for a young married couple to live in two or three rooms and board outside. I should say that the average cost per week per person for food in the home is $2.75 to $3.50, which would mean, for two people, from $24 to $50 a month.

Two Persons Must Allow $18 a Month for Clothes

The cost of clothes is necessarily variable. Women must have more clothes than men, and they cost more. The amount to be spent for clothing will depend largely upon the ability of the woman to make her own clothes—to buy the materials and put them together. For two persons it would be rather difficult to come down below $15 per month for clothes.

The least we can figure for traveling and carfare is thirty cents a day, or $9 a month. This means that if a man is living on the edge of the town he pays two car fares simply to go down in the morning and back at night, and occasionally his wife travels.

Such items as gas, electricity and washing we may reckon at $6.50 per month. The cost of medical attendance and medicine is variable, but we ought to allow at least $1 per month (it will run higher if there are children).

The Total Aggregate $102 a Month for the Budget

Summer expenses are also variable. A good many young people go to visit their friends, or to stay with the husband's or wife's family in the summer time, but even then we ought to allow at least $5 per month. Allowing no more than $2 per month for amusements and $2 more for incidental expenses, we have a total of $162.50 per month.

It would seem then to be a risk for a man of our class to marry in any of our larger cities unless he were making from $100 to $1200 per year. Even that would involve a willingness on the part of both man and wife to go out very little, to see very little, to entertain very little in a way that costs. In a large city (like New York) there are a great many things that are improving in the way of recreation which self-respecting people can do at little expense; but it takes ingenuity to find them. Even the minimum estimate of $100 or $1200 is based on the assumption that the wife will do all the housework with the possible exception of the heavy laundry.

As to the question of having money in reserve. Furnishings, planned in advance, should be provided for during the period of engagement or before. It is no wise to count on our friends giving us for wedding presents just the things we need for the house. We are almost always disappointed, for sometimes at water pitcher and a set of dishes, or a set of chairs, tables and such things as we really need. The cost of equipping a house, furniture having been provided before marriage, is in the region of $75—from that up. Those of you who are married realize what it means to have no idea of the amount it costs simply to furnish a kitchen with pots, pans, kettles and various other cooking utensils until we set about it. It is desirable to have a sum of money in reserve for such purposes.

But in spite of the necessity for this careful planning and economy, it is better, especially in a large city, to marry with health in the early twenties than to wait until the money comes in the salary much larger, and we have been able to gather together all of these things which we need for the home. There are many articles of furniture which are cheap to purchase, and which are useful to furnish upon marriage with good taste and a few things that to keep putting off the day until that subtle, actual influence is actually at work which keeps us from marrying at all.

Solving These Problems Brings Husband and Wife Together

Some persons who have come to the point where they do not need to think about the dollars and the cents in the home have been very happy in recalling that during the first one or two years of their married life both husband and wife were obliged to consider carefully the cost of things. The working out of the economic problems together has given value and there is nothing like mutual sacrifice, mutual thought and mutual plans to bind together the man and the woman.
